

Quang Binh Province, Viet Nam

This map illustrates the geographical and administrative layout of Quang Binh Province. Key features include:

- Coastline and Water Bodies: The eastern border is defined by the Gulf of Tonkin, featuring several islands and bays such as Bai Hoi, Bai Nghi, and Bai Tra.
- Administrative Boundaries: The province is divided into districts, each outlined in a different color (e.g., red for Dong Hoi, blue for Thanh Hoa, green for Binh Thuan).
- Major Cities and Towns: Labeled locations include Hanoi, Vinh, Haiphong, Dong Hoi, Thanh Hoa, Binh Thuan, and various smaller towns like Ba Nang Hoa and Ba Nang.
- Infrastructure: The map shows a network of roads, including National Route 1A and Route 12A, and a railway line connecting major hubs.
- Natural Features: Notable areas include the Hin Namno National Protected Area and the Phou Xang Hae National Protected Area.
- Neighboring Regions: The map shows the province's position relative to Hanoi to the north, Vinh to the west, and Haiphong to the east.